CHARLES FINNEY CLARK.

CONTRIBUTED BY HENRY TAYLOR GRAY.

Charles Finney Clark, for twenty-eight years president of the company known throughout the whole business world as "Bradstreet's," came from old New England stock of English and Scotch origin. His father, the Rev. Gardiner Kellogg Clark, born in 1776 at Bradford, Vermont, was one of a family of ten children, another of the ten being the Rev. Laban Clark, the eminent Methodist preacher, who was one of the founders of Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., and one of the organizers of the missionary system of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His grandfather, Joseph Clark of New Salem, N. H., was born in 1751, and married, in 1774, Sarah Morrison of New Hamsted, N. H. His great-grandfather was Joseph Clark of Roxbury, Mass., a descendant of William Clark of Marblehead, Mass., 1638. His mother, whose maiden name was Lucy Bement Hitchcock, was the daughter of Peter and Ruth Bliss Hitchcock of Brimfield, Mass.

He was born August 30, 1836, at Preble, Cortland County, N. Y., and was educated at Homer Academy, situated in the same county, then under the administration of Professor Woolworth. While still a student of this institution he found it necessary to become a teacher to pay his current expenses. Thus at the age of fourteen years he began teaching in a district school in Preble township, and continued to do so while obtaining his education. Upon leaving the academy he went to Detroit, Michigan, and entered the employ of Z. Chandler & Co., the head of the firm becoming afterward the celebrated United States Senator, Zachariah Chandler of Michigan. In 1857 he entered the law office of Crane and Wesson of Detroit, and studied with them for four years. During this time he became interested in Bradstreet's Mercantile Reports, which were first printed in 1849 by John M. Bradstreet, to whom belongs the credit of originating a system, and first issuing a book, of commercial ratings intended to inform merchants of all the facts necessary for the determination of the wisdom of granting credits to the subjects of the reports.

While still in the office of Crane and Wesson, Mr. Clark acted as the first Detroit representative of the Bradstreet Agency, and after leaving the law office he resolved to devote his sole attention to Bradstreet's work. Thus he began his noteworthy career, closely bound up with the progress of American commerce, and found his mission in the development of a great credit institution, which, under the animating impulse of his master spirit, became at length international in its scope. At that time, however, the value of the mercantile reports system was so little appreciated that he found it necessary to engage in other occupations for support while still developing the business upon which he had set his heart. Accordingly he published a city directory of Detroit and a state gazetteer of Michigan, and for a year was publisher of The Detroit Post, of which Carl Schurz was then the editor. Meantime he persisted in pushing the interests of Bradstreet's reports, and was repaid by the steady growth of their popularity as well as the recognition of his services by the Agency. He was promoted, first, to the Philadelphia office of Bradstreet's, then to that of Boston, and later was made general superintendent of the Agency, with headquarters at New York. In April, 1876, the business was incorporated, and Mr. Clark became the secretary of the company. His rare ability and wide experience in the conduct of the business pointed him out as the man to whom should be intrusted its guidance, and in August, 1876, he became the president of Bradstreet's, and from that time until his death his initiative and inspiration were felt throughout all the ramifications of this vast enterprise. Under his administration, and largely because of his energy and ability, the company has extended its business many fold until now it is known and appreciated throughout the whole civilized world.*

Though the development of The Bradstreet Company as an indicator and conserver of credit absorbed the best energies of Mr. Clark, particularly during the institution's formative period, his interests were not confined to it. His counsel was highly valued in business circles. He was elected vice-president of the Washington Trust Company, of which he was also one of the original incorporators, and served as director of the American Cotton Oil Company, the Cataract Construction Company, the Niagara Falls Power Company, the Niagara Development Company and the Niagara Junction Railway Company. Recognition of the place he filled in financial and business life was shown by his selection as one of the "captains of industry" representing American finance, commerce, industry, credit and invention, at the famous luncheon given in New York, February, 1902, to Prince Henry of Prussia on the occasion of his visit to the city as the personal representative of his brother, the German Emperor. He was a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce, the

* In this connection it may be interesting to note that the first printed volume of Bradstreet's Reports contained 110 pages, 17,100 names and 9 places, the intention at that time being to print only the larger cities. The last volume for 1905 contains 2,658 pages, 91,576 places and 1,468,607 names.

American Geographical Society and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. His social interests found expression in a number of clubs—the Union League, Metropolitan, Grolier, Lotos, Church and Merchants' Clubs, and in the St. Andrew and New England Societies. Since 1882 he had been an active member, vestryman and treasurer of St. James Protestant Episcopal Church of New York City. He died suddenly in London, September 3, 1904, of heart failure, presumably caused by indigestion, aged sixty-eight years. His body was brought back on the Oceanic and buried in this country.

Mr. Clark was a man of uncommon ability and singular strength of character. To an intelligence of rare comprehensiveness, fitted to view affairs in their larger relations, he joined an immense capacity for detail and a degree of executive ability such as is given to but few men to possess. His interest in the great movements of the world was keen and active, and he deemed nothing foreign to him which could in any way, however remote, affect the currents of credit. His habit of mind was essentially conservative, and nearness to events did not disturb his perspective. As he impressed his individuality deeply upon the institution which he so long directed, so he left an abiding mark upon the business of credit-rating itself, to which his labors, informed by high ideals, have added uplift and dignity. The work done by this great constructive genius has not been lost. He has left behind him a vast organization to whose elaboration he contributed the main impulse. His character, while full-orbed and evenly balanced, was specially marked by an exceeding earnestness and modesty, and by a quietness of temper which nothing seemingly could disturb.

No character and influence so dominating could pass away without the loss being keenly felt. In its memorial resolutions the Board of Directors of the Bradstreet Company deplore Mr. Clark's sudden death and say:

"When Mr. Clark entered the service of the Agency, and even when he became its President, the business of this Company and, indeed, the business of credit reporting, as now conducted, was still in its infancy, and not only this Company, but the Mercantile Agency business in general, is largely indebted to Mr. Clark for its present methods, policies and high principles, and for its efficiency as a means of promoting and safeguarding the great trade of the world under the modern credit system. Mr. Clark, with his lofty conceptions of the purposes and functions of the Mercantile Agency, insisted always upon considering it as a profession, and he devoted himself to it as a profession with zeal, broad intelligence, an insistence upon the highest ethical principles, and with a forcefulness which impressed his earnestness and elevated ideals upon all his associates.

Mr. Clark was a leader of men, with a genius for organization, an unlimited capacity for work on broad lines, and for patient attention to details. He was also the most modest of men. The name Bradstreet's is known throughout the world, but thousands of its patrons never heard the name of Mr. Clark. It was no regret to him that this was so. He pursued this career, in which he achieved such brilliant success, because he loved the work and the interesting problems it presented, and because he had profound convictions as to its importance and value to the business world; and during his Presidency his chief ambition, as he himself often stated, was to perfect the organization of the Company so that its efficiency, success and prosperity would be independent of the life of any one man. It is a consolation to those who mourn his death that this ambition has been attained; that Bradstreet's will remain as an enduring monument of his achievements, and that its great work will be continued on the lines marked out for it by the earnest and gentle spirit which created and organized it."

The Board of Trustees of the Washington Trust Company also in their resolutions, after expressing their profound sorrow in the death of their esteemed associate, Charles F. Clark, say:

"Mr. Clark was one of the original incorporators, a trustee and first Vice-President of this Company from its inception. He was a man of untarnished integrity, clear perception and of wise business foresight. In addition to these traits of character, his personality bore the charm of rare sweetness and strength. A devoted Christian gentleman, courteous, patient, free from prejudice, single-minded and equitable in his judgment, he made a firm friend of each and every one of his associates. The success attained by this Company is in an important degree due to his wise counsel and aid faithfully rendered to this corporation. His death brings to each member of the Board of Trustees a feeling of deep personal loss. We shall miss his genial face and courtly manners, and his memory will ever remain a fragrant inspiration."

Charles Finney Clark was married, first, June 12, 1862, at Detroit, Michigan, to Sarah M. Wilder. She died January 4, 1869, leaving one child, Sarah Juliette, now the wife of the Rev. Henry Phipps Ross of Providence, R. I. He married again, October 13, 1870, Ellen Marcia Fogg, daughter of Ezra D. Fogg of Providence, R. I., and Sarah Shelden Martin, and by her had two children Ella Mabel Clark and Charles Martin Clark. His widow and his three children survive him.

NOTE.—The reference letter in the second column in the list of New Brunswick Loyalists indicates, it will be remembered, the source of the information from which the list has been compiled. The readers of the RECORD are requested to note the following additions to the schedule which appeared in the January, 1904, issue.

"P." Roll of Loyalists, etc., settled in Belle Vue in Beaver Harbor, Charlotte County, 10th July, 1784.

On the 6th of Sept., she was at sea, and on the 14th of Sept., she was in the Saint John River. Copy of return furnished by H. A. Powell, Esq., of Sackville, N. B. (See Collections of New Brunswick Historical Society, No. 5, 1904, pp. 277-8-9.)

"R." The names appearing in this compilation have been copied from the said original by the compiler of this record.

"S." Loyalists who settled on Kemble Manor, Saint John River, N. B., mentioned by Jonas Howe in his article upon that subject, (see New Brunswick Magazine, Vol. 1, p. 157.)

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

Easterly part of cemetery at Rahway, N. J., on St. George Avenue, formerly the cemetery of the old Presbyterian Church. Copied from stones standing in 1903.

BY GEORGE W. THOMAS, CRANFORD, N. J.

NOTES.—The tombstones are crumbling away and letters are defacing. In many cases all the history of the dead that can now be known is that conveyed by these inscriptions. Early records were destroyed by fire during the Revolution, Church was burned, and early Elizabethtown, N. J. records are lost.

Where (verse) appears it indicates that the tombstone had one or more verses inscribed on it. (S. A. R. Monument) indicates that the Sons of the American Revolution have placed one of their iron monuments at the grave.

THE SKILLMANS OF AMERICA AND THEIR KIN.

BY WILLIAM JONES SKILLMAN, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The Skillmans of the New World are quite commonly assumed to be of Dutch descent. In one way this is a mistake, though in another clearly a fact. They are Dutch in two respects. First, the mothers of them on this continent were of Dutch or Huguenot lineage, though the father was an Englishman, an enlisted soldier under Col. Nicolls, to whom Nieuw Amsterdam surrendered in 1664, becoming thereafter New York. This conquest achieved, the ancestor, so the story goes, being specially attached to his commander, now made Governor of the Province, did not return with his comrades in arms to the home land, but soon took a wife and settled permanently in the Newtown, (L. I.) region, at Maspeth or Dutch Kills. Then the children afterwards intermarried with their Hollandish neighbors, and so the family ultimately came to be much more largely of Belgic than of British blood. But secondly, even in England, the Skillmans were of Dutch stock originally. Their paternal forebears came to Britain from the Low Countries, some of them hundreds of years before the Nicolls or Duke of York Expedition set sail from Portsmouth Harbor for America. Flemings, we know, flocked early into England, and we are not surprised to find in 1299 an Adam Skileman at Norwich, and others of the name also at various points, especially scattered through those shires of the island, from Kent northwards, bordering on the German Ocean, particularly in the fen country of Lincolnshire. A John Skilman is of record in the Hundred Rolls of Edward I (1275), and a Henry Skileman is mentioned in Writs of Parliament. One of the name is found at Wymondham, Norfolk, and another at Eltham, Kent, is keeper of the King's Park. There have been Londoners of the name for centuries, and these Skillmans all, we cannot doubt, came ancestrally from the not far away Belgic coast. They were Dutch in short, as, indeed, were the Jutes, Saxons, and Angles of an earlier time. Quite surely, too, were they kinsfolk of the Schillemans to be found extendedly, even today, in the country round about Bruges and in neighboring South Holland. An immense family this, representatives of which from Sluis, Zeeland, singular to note, are, in our own generation, pioneers in the Netherlandish Settlements on Lake Michigan, in the State of that name in this country. Some Schillemans, in fact, are at this time living in Rochester, N. Y., later comers from the old to the new world, who, it is understood, now also anglicize their name, spelling it, that is, just as do the rest of us, their very, very far off cousins.

The Skillmans of America, hence, though not strictly Dutch, are yet, near the outset, really more Dutch than English. The head of the family came probably from London or from near there. He was a musician in the Nicolls forces, and all his life, tradition says, was a musician. With his commander he sailed in the Guiney, the chief of the three (possibly four) very small vessels that brought the adventurers to these shores. Down to this day he is known among his descendants always as Captain Thomas Skillman, a courtesy title, or one gained in later service in this country, or possibly it came from some militia connection merely. After that August morning when Nieuw Amsterdam became New York, we next hear of our ancestor the following year, when, Feb. 19, 1665, at Elizabeth Town, fifth in a list of 60 or more, bearing such names as Ogden, Drake, Tuttle, Dickenson, Whitehead, Woodruff, Crane, Marsh, and others, he took oath of allegiance to King Charles II; but he did not stay in that first New Jersey settlement, for the next year, in the Nicolls' Patent, dated Jan. 23, 1666, he is named as an "inhabitant and freeholder" of Newtown. Then very shortly, he took to another spell of soldiering, or was one of twenty-five men, sent apparently as a special contingent by the Governor himself, to chastise the Indians who three years previously had perpetrated the cruel Wiltwyck Massacre. The names of himself and companions (See Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New York, pp. 418-19) are given, and some of them, the savages having been punished, settled down and made their future homes in that region so recently harried. Among these were Thomas Quinnell, Robt. Peacock, Fred'k Hussey, Jno. Biggs, Henry Pawling (afterwards Captain), Sam'l Oliver, Edward Whittaker, Anthony Addyson, Wm. Fisher, Geo. Hall (Sheriff later on), Cornelis Arson, and others. At all events, we find the names, presumably of descendants of theirs, in the Register of the old Dutch Church of Kingston, as the original village or settlement, after the British occupancy, was called. To these twenty-five men the Governor had promised a land bounty of ten acres each at Esopus, and subsequently these "lots" were surveyed and laid out by Jacques Cortelleau (Cortelyou), from whom numbers of descendants are to-day found on Long Island and especially in New Jersey, the nearest neighbor of the writer's father, when he himself was a child in that State, and several of his own earliest schoolmates, being of that old-time Walloon household. But Thomas Skillman did not stay or enter upon his small estate at Esopus, nor are we told of any disposition made of it by him. He received his discharge as a soldier (Vol. II, p. 390, Court of Assizes, Dept. Hist. Records, Sec. of State's Office), and we note (Legis. Proceed's 1689-90) that he also was given "14 oz. of plate for services at Albany under Captain Lewis." This I cannot explain. Particulars other than these of the ancestor's life are of scant record. His death must have occurred about 1697, his widow afterward marrying Cornelis Breese. (Juriaen Bries and Volkert Bries, of "Brookland," are names found in the census list of Kings County taken about 1698.) At his death his estate fell, by his will (assumed) to Sara, his wife, she, however, April 1, 1699, transferring the fourth part of it, "housing, lands, meadows, and orchards, rights, privileges, advantages, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging and in any wise appertaining" to their only son, Thomas.

With this brief introduction we now pass to the formal record (condensed) of the Skillman Family in this country, direct and collateral, running through the first three and possibly into some of the later generations, so far as details at present date can be fairly well determined.

1. THOMAS¹ SKILLMAN, b. 1635-40. Soldier under Col. Richard Nicolls in Expedition of Duke of York, ordered by the King, Feb. 25, 1664, sailed from Portsmouth, May 15, and dropped anchor in the harbor of Nieuw Amsterdam (near present Fort Hamilton), Aug. 18, same year. After the surrender he stayed in this country and became "inhabitant and freeholder" at Newtown (L. I.), under Nicolls' Patent of Jan. 23, 1666. Served in Esopus War; honorably discharged April 6, 1668. (See Introduction, ante). In 1669 he m. Sara, dau. of John Petit, Newtown, of whom Huntingdon (Hist. of Stamford) says: "John Petet was here (Stamford, Ct.) early, and had children recorded to him before 1650. Inventory, dated 5, 4, 1676, made by Rich^d. Law and Francis Bell, mentions his widow, Sarah (Scofield), two sons (names not given), and daus. Sarah, Mary, and Bethia. Rich^d. Law appointed guardian of his (John Petet's) children in a court of magistrates, the Gov^r. being present, 14, 4, 1662. Debrow Pettit here (Stamford) in 1657. Name afterward spelled Petit." Rev. Samuel Orcutt (Hist. of Stratford and Bridgeport, p. 103) says: "John Pettit was in Roxbury in 1639, and at Stratford in 1651. Probably soon removed to Stamford, and thence to Newtown, L. I." John Petit and Sarah Scofield, his wife, were the parents of Sara, wife of Thomas Skillman. Children:

2 i. Thomas,² b. 1671.

3 ii. Elsje, b. 1672.

iii. Sara, b. 1675; m. Cornelis Hendricxen, 1694. Their dau. Marytje, bap. in Ref. Dutch (Collegiate) Church, of New York, Aug. 10, 1695, Jacobus Kock and Elizabeth de Boog, witnesses.

iv. Lijsbet, b. 1677. Sponsor at bap. (Collegiate Church) of her sister Elsje's child, Jan, Sept. 21, 1701. She m. Jan Aten, of Flatbush, brother of Thomas, settled at Jamaica, L. I., and had a child bap. there (Ref. Dutch Church), in 1705, Thomas Aten and Elsje Schilman, sponsors. In 1710-15, with other members of the Aten family, Jan removed to Three Mile Run, N. J.; an Elder in the Ref. Dutch Church there in 1717. (See Records of the First Reformed Dutch Church, New Brunswick, N. J.) Jan Aten's will, probated March 13, 1743, names his wife Elizabeth.

2. THOMAS² SKILLMAN (Thomas¹), b. 1671. Name signed with others, "inhabitants of Helgate Neck," to a petition, May 11, 1703. Was Commissioner of Highways, Newtown, 1714; joint owner also with Jos. and Sam'l Hallett, Sam'l and Jos. Moore, and Isaac Bragaw, of a plat, 30 x 22 feet for a School House,

May 20, 1721. This building was at Middletown (near Dutch Kills), on the road from Hallett's Cove to Newtown Village. His name appears as witness to deed given by his son, Isaac, to Sam'l Albertus in 1729. Subscribed £5 for erection of Dutch Ref. Church of Newtown, 1731. The first board of Kerck Meesters (wardens or trustees) of this church, chosen 1736, were Peter Berrien, Thomas Skillman, and Petrus Schenck. His pew in this church was No. 1, on the northwest side of the middle aisle, and his family home (which had been his father's, the homestead), was at Dutch or Maspeth Kills. In 1693, Thomas, m. Annetje, dau. of Adriaen Hendricksen Aten (Aaten, Aate, Aeten, Atje) "immigrant, 1651, 36 y'r" (his age then), from Holland (van Doesburg), who settled at Flatbush, L. I.; was chosen Constable, Oct., 1665; sold parcels of land there, April 3, and again Nov. 5 of that year; bought house-lot at Flatbush of Jan Strycker, March 27, 1680. The father and his son Thomas, "native of Flackbush," took oath of allegiance, 1687, wife and mother being Lysbet Thomas, widow of Guysbert Lubbertse. Annetje Aten, wife of Thomas Skillman and mother of his children, was a communicant member of Newtown (Ref. Dutch) Church, 1741. Her parents, March 20, 1696, made a joint will, dividing their estate at death equally among their children, except that that Maritje (bap. at Flatbush Dutch Church, March 31, 1678) was given a double portion, she remaining unmarried and having chief care of the father and mother, perhaps. The will of Thomas' Skillman (Records of Kings County and Queens), dated Feb. 13, 1739, witnessed by Barnadus Van Zandt, John Rapalje, and Cornelis Berrien, Jr., probated July 4, 1740, names his wife, Ann, and all their then living children. Two had died young. They had:

- i. Peter,³ bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church), March 4, 1694. Witnesses: Elsje Skillman and Elizabeth Booth; also bap. Nov. 4, when Elsje Skillman with Pieter Siraech, and Cobus Pietersen are sponsors. He d. in infancy.
- ii. Elizabeth, twin with Peter, bap. at same dates, with same witnesses and church; m. 1717, Hendrick Van de Water, N. Y. City. Infant dau. Ann, bap. (Collegiate Church), Aug. 29, 1718, Thomas' Skillman and Baafje Van de Water, sponsors. Both mother and child died. (See Annetje, post.)
- 4 iii. Jan, b. 1696.
- iv. Mary, b. 1698; m. Johannes Bant (Band, Bandt, Bondt, Bond) of N. Y. City. With Jacobus Skillman (brother) was sponsor at bap. (Collegiate Church), Aug. 4, 1726, of Maria, third child of her sister Annetje, second wife of Hendrick Van de Water. At baptism Nov. 18, 1733, of Pieter, babe of Pieter Bond and Catalyntje Meijer, the witnesses are Geo. Lamb and Maria Schilman, wife of J. Bond. Also, and in same church (Collegiate) at bap. Nov. 12, 1735, of Elizabeth, eighth child of Hendrick Van de Water and Anna Skillman, the sponsors are Cornelis Klopper and Maria Skillman, wife of Johs. Band.

- v. Mercy, bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church), Feb. 2, 1701, Isaac Brockaar (Brokaw) and Mercy Van Hove, sponsors. She m. John Fijn (Fine), son probably of Jan Fin and Aaltje Jans, bap. (Collegiate Church)
May 18, 1698, Thomas Lourens and Meltje Paro, sponsors.
- 5 vi. Annetje, b. 1703.
- 6 vii. Abraham, b. 1704.
- 7 viii. Isaac, b. 1706.
- 8 ix. Jacob, b. 1708.
- 9 x. Benjamin, b. 1710.
- 10 xi. Joseph, b. 1712.

3. ELSJE ² SKILLMAN (Thomas¹), b. 1673; m. 1694, Thomas Aeten,
"native of Fflackbush," b. 1770,² son of Adriaen Hend. Aaten and Lijsbet Thomas, his wife. Took oath of allegiance (see ab.)
at Flatbush, 1687. Elsje was sponsor at bap. of Elizabeth and Peter, twin children of her brother, Thomas,² in Brooklyn, March 4 (and Nov. 4), 1695. Family removed to Somerset Co., N. J.
(Valley of the Raritan), 1710-15. Rev. Dr. Abraham Messler (Somerville) gives names of Dutch families (Hist. of Somerset Co., N. J.), who secured lands on the Raritan River, and settled there between 1681 and 1720. Among these Thomas Aeten and Jan Aeten (near New Brunswick) are noted. "In the list of Families of the First Ref. Ch. (N. Brunswick) from 1732 to 1735," says Rev. P. T. Pockman, pastor 1898, appear the names of Jan Aeten, Jr., and Thomas Aeten. Jan Aeten and Thomas Aeten and wife Elsje, were members in 1717. Jan Aeten, Jr., joined on confession, May 17, 1734. Also Catalyntje, dau. of Jan Aeten, Jr., and Jannetje (his wife), was bap. Oct. 10, 1736, and Jan, son of Thomas Aeten and Elizabeth, was bap. Dec. 31, 1738." These last are evidently of a later generation. Known children of Elsje Skillman and Thomas Aeten:

- i. Adriaen Aten, bap. Sept. 4, 1695, in the (Collegiate Church) Ref. Dutch of New York, with grandparents, Adriaen Hend. Aten and Lijsbet Thomas, sponsors. About 1721, Adriaen removed to Readington, N. J., and there lived his life. His will, dated Dec. 8, 1757, and proved Feb. 28, 1758, names
Jacobje Middagh, his wife, and her brother Pieter, executors. They had 10 children.
- ii. Jan Aten, bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church) Sept.
21, 1701, Jan Aten (father's brother) and Lijsbet (mother's sister) standing sponsors.
- iii. Jannetje Aten, bap. in Ref. Dutch Church, Brooklyn, April 18, 1704, Thomas Skillman (mother's brother) and Marijtje Aten (father's sister) sponsors, and "Marijtje" here may be a blunder in the record for her sister "Annetje," the wife of Thomas Skillman.

THE THROOPE FAMILY AND THE SCROPE TRADITION.

BY WINCHESTER FITCH.

24. REV. GEORGE⁴ THROOP, b. at Bristol, R. I., 10 March, 1723-4; removed as a child to Lebanon, Ct., m. there 5 Nov., 1746, Mehitable Bliss, b. there 10 Aug., 1727-8, dau. of Nathaniel and Mehitable (Spafford) Bliss, and sister of Elijah and Nathaniel Bliss (3), both of whom d. at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, in 1778. There were other intermarriages between these two families and the Fitches, Lymans and Terrys, all of which families sent pioneers to Nova Scotia after the eviction of the Acadians, when government lands were offered on liberal terms to settlers, many of whom were in turn driven out during the Revolution on refusing to take the British side.

Thomas Bliss, a Puritan of Belstone, in Devonshire, whose sister m. Sir John Calcliffe, was b. about 1580, and m. Margaret Lawrence. Their son Lawrence was the grandfather of Deacon Caleb Bliss, whose grandson Jeduthan Bliss, m. Susannah⁴ Tracy, dau. of Rev. Stephen and Mary⁴ (Throop) Tracy.

John Bliss, brother of Lawrence Bliss, m. Patience Burt and had son John 2nd, who m. Anna Terry, and had a son John Bliss 3rd, who m. Hannah Ticknor and had a son John Bliss 4th, b. in Lebanon, 26 May, 1726, who settled in Nova Scotia, but was driven out by Tories during the Revolution. According to tradition the latter m. Mary⁴ Throop, b. in 1744, sister of Rev. George⁴ Throop, and had a son George⁵ Bliss (60). It is certain that Rev. George Throop adopted George Bliss, who assumed the name of Throop and was brought up as his son. It is also certain that George Bliss, his "nephew by blood," was not his wife's nephew, as she was descended from Nathaniel Bliss, Sr., son of John and Patience (Burt) Bliss.

The children of John and Mary⁴ (Throop) Bliss were:

- i. John.*
- ii. Elijah Dan, b. 1759; d. 1800-5.
- 60 iii. George Bliss (Throop).
- iv. James, b. 1763; d. 12 Aug., 1831.
- v. David.
- vi. Jedediah. (Bliss Genealogy).

Records at Willimantic, Conn., show that Mary Bliss was guardian of her sons Elijah and Jedediah.

Nathaniel Bliss, Sr., m. Mary Wright of Springfield, Mass., 3 Feb., 1697, and had: i. Nathaniel, d. y.; ii. Henry, b. 25 Oct., 1701, m. Bethia Spafford, whose son Amos m. (2) Anna Brown, and had Zerviah, the wife of Henry⁴ Throop (No. 46); iii. Nathaniel, b. 26, Oct., 1704, m. Mehitable Spafford, 4, Sept., 1723-4, whose

dau. Mehitable m. Rev. George⁴ Throop; iv. Mary, b. 3 March, 1706, m. Moses Hatch, 1 Feb., 1748; and v. Martha, b. 30 Oct., 1709, m. Jabez Lyman, 29 Jan., 1730, and had Martha Lyman, the wife of Col. Josiah⁴ Throop and Ezekial Lyman, who m. Elizabeth Bliss. (See Bliss Family Genealogy, by Mr. John Homer Bliss, Hartford, 1881, pp. 90, 248, etc.)

Rev. George Throop was a minister at Johnstown, N. Y., where he was tutor to the children of Sir William Johnson. He was a chaplain in the Revolution in Col. Samuel Brewster's Regiment (Roll of 12 Feb., 1777, Field Staff Rolls, Vol. 26, p. 31). His children d. y., and George Bliss Throop was his heir.

Col. Josiah⁴ Throop, when 84 years of age, in 1811, wrote the following lines in memory of his brother, and sent them in a letter to his nephew, Gov. Enos Thompson Throop:

"Sacred to the memory of the Reverend George Throop, Minister of the Gospel, who departed this life in cheerful hope of a better, May 23, 1804, aged 80 years and two months."

"Farewell! you leave a thankless world behind
Whose great concern was ever on your mind.
You warned them their best interests to pursue.
Some took it kindly and were fond of you,
A gazing number watched with eager eyes
Caught, eat, and lived on your infirmities.
A minister! To tell a merry jest
Or when 'tis told to laugh among the rest!
'O, Shame' they cry, not knowing that true grace
Leaves God's first stamp on nature as it was.
Grace knows the different tempers of mankind
And suits its blessings to their turn of mind.
The various appetites Heaven gives it feeds,
And makes them happy just as Nature needs;
The wise, the simple, thoughtful, dull and gay
Gives happiness to all, in their own way.
But now the motley farce of life is o'er.
They frown or scoff to hear you laugh no more.
We saw you at the closing scene resigned.
'Receive me Lord' you cried 'and bless mankind.'"

60. GEORGE⁵ BLISS THROOP, b. at Lebanon, Ct., 12 April, 1761, third of the seven children of John and Mary (Throop) Bliss, of Lebanon and Nova Scotia; m. 2 Nov., 1783, Abia Thompson, b. in Dutchess County, N. Y., Sept., 1762, d. 24 June, 1846, dau. of Enos Thompson, b. 18 Ang., 1717, who m. Sarah Hitchcock, 1745, and granddaughter of Samuel Thompson, who m. 4 Nov., 1695, Rebecca, eldest dau. of Deputy-Governor Bishop of Connecticut. Samuel Thompson was son of Capt. John Thompson, who d. June, 1707, and grandson of Anthony Thompson, who came from England with Eaton in 1637, on the Hector, and signed the New Haven Constitution, 4 June, 1639. Mrs. Throop was a cousin of Hon. Smith Thompson, Associate Justice U. S. Supreme Court, and of Hon. Jacob Sutherland, N. Y. Supreme Court. She m. (2) George W. Hatch of Johnstown, N. Y. (See N. E. H. & G. Register, Vol. XIV, p. 199). Mr. Throop d. in Albany, N. Y., 13 Nov., 1794, aged 35. "He received a college education and was a man of culture and earnest piety." He taught school, served in

- 24B. COL. JOSIAH⁴ THROOP, b. at Bristol, R. I., 13 July, 1727; removed as a child to Lebanon, Ct.; m. there about 1752, Martha Lyman, b. 15 Nov., 1735, dau. of Jabez and Martha (Bliss) Lyman, cousin of Mrs. George⁴ Throop (58). They owned the covenant at the Lebanon Church, 17 Dec., 1752, removed to Halifax, and were readmitted as from Halifax, 5 May, 1754. In 1765 they were of Cumberland, Nova Scotia, where her cousin Nathaniel Bliss, 4th, son of Nathaniel and Eunice (Fish) Bliss, of Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, in 1772, was a resident in 1793. (See Bliss Family Genealogy, Lyman Genealogy). Col. Throop was prospering in Nova Scotia at the outbreak of the Revolution, when, sympathizing with the colonial cause, like most of his neighbors who had come from New England, and not willing to take the British oath of allegiance, he became a fugitive, exiled from his home and his family, and a price of £500 set on his head. He was prominent in the unsuccessful attack on Fort Cumberland, 1 Nov., 1776, which is graphically described by him in his letter to Gov. Clinton, published in the Public Papers of Gen. Clinton, Vol. 5, p. 452, No. 2,693. (See also No. 3,338 and No. 4,455). This enterprise is also described in a letter by his superior officer, Col. Jonathan Eddy, published in Kidder's Military Operations in Eastern Maine and Nova Scotia. Seizing a British ship and making many prisoners, this heroic handful of men got safely to Boston, where Josiah Throop was commissioned a Captain, 28 Dec., 1776, and when ready to return with re-enforcements, learned that the arrival of the British man-of-war Albany had made the expedition so hopeless, that it was abandoned. At later dates he planned other attacks there, in an effort to rejoin his family and drive out the Tories, but the approach of Gen. Burgoyne's army prevented. He taught school in Boston in 1777. Disappointed, enduring all the miseries of exile, poverty and war, he at length reached New York, and was commissioned first a major and then lieutenant-colonel under Col. Marinus Willett.

He served with gallantry in the cruel border warfare in Tryon County, and succeeded in getting passed the New York Act of May, 1784, that threw open lands in Northern New York for the Canadian refugees like himself, whose cause he championed, acting as lobbyist, land agent and surveyor, and as attorney for many of these exiled families. (See Murdock's History of Nova Scotia, p. 456; Historical Magazine, 1864, Vol. VIII, p. 304; Masachusetts Archives, Vol. 214, p. 439; New York Land Papers in Secretary of State's Office, Vol. 36, pp. 347, 354; Vol. 37, pp. 22, 26, 41, 45, 64; Vol. 39, p. 118; Vol. 41, p. 71; Vol. 47, pp. 126-141; History of Herkimer County, N. Y., p. 59; Calendar of New York Colonial MSS., pp. 653, 684, 708, 797, 843, 844 and 848; and Sherburne's History of Chenango Co., N. Y., p. 46.)

In 1784 he signed as witness the will of John Harper in Tryon County, and was closely associated with his son, Col. Alexander Harper, the founder of Harpersfield, and son-in-law, Capt. McFarland. He was acting as attorney for the Canadian refugees as late as 1795. He finally settled his unfortunate family in Chenango, where he was a leader in promoting the welfare of the struggling settlements. When 84 years of age, in 1811, he sent the verses quoted to Gov. Throop.

22. REV. BENJAMIN^s THROOP, b. at Bristol, June 9, 1712. Yale, 1734. Pastor of church he organized at Bozrah, Ct., from Jan. 3, 1738, to his death, Sept. 16, 1785; Chaplain of the Crown Point Expedition in 1755; appointed to preach election sermon May, 1753, which was printed by order of the legislature (p. 400, Col. Records, Ct., Vol. 10). He m. Sept. 27, 1735, at Canterbury, Ct., Sybil, b. 23 Oct., 1714, dau. of Col. John and Abigail (Fitch) Dyer, and granddaughter of Major James Fitch, the patron of Yale, and his wife Alice, dau. of Major William Bradford, the oldest son of Gov. Bradford. Major James Fitch was the oldest son of Rev. James Fitch and his first wife Abigail, dau. of Rev. Henry Whitfield, and a descendant of the Sheafes and Mannings of Kent. (See Smith's History of Guilford; N. E. H. & G. Register, Vol. 4, 46, 49 and 51; Waters' Genealogical Gleanings and Visitations of London and Kent). Col. Dyer was a descendant of Thomas Dyer of Weymouth, Mass., who came from Shipton Mallett, Somersetshire, Eng., in 1640. Sybil Dyer was a first cousin of Col. Eliphalet Dyer, Yale, 1739, of the Continental Congress, who resigned as Comptroller of New London rather than assist Gov. Thomas Fitch in his efforts to enforce the Stamp Act. The Stamp Act was attacked by Dr. Throop in a sermon that was published.

In The History of Norwich, Miss Caulkins says of Rev. Benj. Throop: "He left behind him the reputation of a scholar, and a gentleman, seasoning all his speech with a divine relish, yet genial, social, always diffusing good humor, always thirsting for information, and ever ready to impart from his ample store to others." He d. at Bozrah, Sept. 14, 1785, his wife Aug. 1, 1793. His funeral sermon, by Rev. Andrew Leete, Yale, 1766, was published. (See Dexter's Yale Annals and Biographies, Allibone's Dictionary of Authors, Hettricks' Canterbury, and Caulkins' Norwich.)

The will of Rev. Benj. Throop was dated 14 May, A. D., 1784. "In Nomine Domine Amen: I, Benjamin Throop of Norwich."

After directing that debts be paid out of personal estate "excepting my library," he leaves to "Sybil my dear wife, use of one-half of my mansion house for her and unmarried daughter Sarah, so long as Sarah remains unmarried, also $\frac{1}{3}$ of remainder of personal estate as well as realty, one cow and use of one horse so long as she shall have occasion to use one: my negro man Shum to be at her disposal." A farm was divided between sons Dyer and Benjamin, and another piece of land west of Wolf Swamp Brook, and $\frac{1}{2}$ of mansion house and remainder in full to son William. He confirmed gifts of £60 to each of his married daughters, Elizabeth, Sybil, Abigail and Octavia, and gives Sarah £60 and his negro boy Jack. "To son Dyer books and silver tankard. If he die without male issue, same articles to my grandson Dan Throop. To son Benjamin, Sermons. To son William, books and great Bible. To two youngest sons and five daughters, rest of books, excepting those in Greek and Latin, which I give to my grandson, Dyer Throop Hinckley. To grandson Dan Throop, my silver tankard upon conditions above mentioned. If that fail it is to be made up to him in some other way. To grandson Horace Throop, my gun and the rest of my artillery. The rest of my plate to my wife, as executor, to dispose of at her discretion. Wearing apparel to my three older sons. Wife Sybil and son William, executors. Witnesses: Marshall Hackley, William Edgerton and John Edgecombe." Norwich Probate, 7, 417-418. Inventory, Oct. 21, 1785. Appraisers: David Hough and Ebenezer Buckus, 7, 434-5. Real, £481. 10. 00; personal, £252. 02. 10; Total, £733. 12. 10.

Miss Caulkins says of the "New Light" excitement, that in 1741, when Rev. Jonathan Parsons preached in Mr. Throop's church "it was reported that a great number were in tears, and some cried out, some fainted away, and one or two raged." Notwithstanding this, no new church was then formed at Bozrah, and Mr. Throop during his ministry added 277 members to his church. He was named first in the committee to manage the separation of Bozrah from Norwich.

Dyer Lathrop, father of Mrs. Leland Stanford of Cal., was of the same family as Mrs. Throop.

Otis Clapp, of Boston, a grandson of Rev. Enoch and Octavia (Throop) Hale, says in the Strong Genealogy: "There was a magnetism about Parson Hale (as he was called) and his wife not easily described. His house was a kind of tavern for all the ministers near, and the hospitality dispensed had a sort of charm that made everybody happy, and yet there was no seeming effort about it. His salary was a few hundred dollars and firewood, and he worked like other clergymen of that day with a strong heart upon the farm. His wife did her own work and taught her daughters to do theirs."

He was brevetted for gallantry, and received a grant of land in Ontario Co., N. Y., as bounty and half pay for life of $240 a year from April 20, 1818, as pension. Dr. Throop wrote under date of 20 Oct., 1896, to Mrs. Robert Carothers, a relative, concerning Col. Throop: "He was major of the fourth Conn. Volunteers and with his regiment and three others was ordered to New Jersey and Penn.: spent the winter at Valley Forge and one at Morristown: was at the battles of Trenton, New Brunswick, and Germantown, and then with Sullivan was ordered by Washington to drive the six Nations of Indians to their homes in the Oneida Country from which they came down the Chenango and Susquehanna to the Wyoming Valley now Luzerne County. With Gen. Sullivan he drove them home and after that landed at West Point on the Hudson, and was in several battles on that river. That ended his first enlistment. RICHART PENGRUFFWND.

BY Z. T. GRIFFEN.

The Visitation of Lewys Dwynn, in the Counties of Carmarthen, Pembroke and Cardigan, South Wales, signed by Richard Pengriffin, Ano. R.R. Jams 1613, as found on page 244, Vol. II, which may refer to the Edward Griffen, one of the first settlers of Flushing, Long Island, an emigrant born in Wales about 1602, is as follows:

THE PARISH OFF WALTON, H. OFF ROS. BEDSON S. MOETHIG.

Richiart Pengruffwnd—Elsbeth sister to William Mor Esq:

In a foot-note the editor says that Ros is situated in Pembrokehire. Also that Moethig is in Salop.

I find that there is an East Walton in Pembrokehire, and now a parish (Paris) in the Hundred of Dangleddan, Diocese of St. David, South Wales.

And that there is a Bedson parish in the Hundred of Parstow, Rectory in Salop, Diocese of Hereford. This accords with the record made by Dwinn in 1603. I leave our good Welsh scholars to translate the rest of the Visitation. The pedigree obviously is what they call Welshry-Englishry, as was and is very prevalent in Pembrokeshire.

To finish the pedigree, John Pengruffwnd, who married Ann, daughter of Edward Langffort, and the father of what I believe is our Edward Griffen in question, had four sisters, viz:

1. Jane, wife of William Klerk, of Biganall.
2. Jowan, wife of John Langffort, son of Edward Langffort.
3. Katrin, wife of William Pieter.
4. Margret, wife of Ieuan, son of Stephen of Gascob, of Co. Radnor.

So that to my mind the line is as follows:

1. Richard Griffith, of Walton, Pembrokeshire, S. Wales, or Penrith Gowr, a soldier for Henry VII, and was present at Bosworth Field, 1486.
2. Griffith Griffith, his son, who had a son.
3. John Griffith, who had two sons and two daughters, viz:
 - a. Edward, born about 1602, left London for Virginia, Oct. 24, 1635, aged 33. Had been in the King's service, was convicted as the record states while in the line of his duty of justifiable manslaughter, and at once granted pardon by the King, January 7, 1625. Afterwards was a trusted servant and financial agent for Lady Wake, in 1633. Was in the service of Captain William Clayborne, in the war between him and Lord Baltimore, and was captured on Palmer's Island, by the soldiers of Lord Baltimore, in 1638, escaped from Maryland, and came to New Amsterdam, in 1640, where he was set at liberty, and for a time lived in Gravesend, L. I., but finally moved to Flushing, where he ever afterwards lived and died, leaving issue there.
 - b. John Griffith, born about 1609, also sailed for Virginia, Oct. 24, 1635, on ship Constance, aged 26, but there is no record of his remaining in America.

NOTES.

Frederick^o Hallock, of Quogue, L. I., whose family Bible the above appears to have been, was a descendant of Peter¹ Hallock, of Southold, L. I., through William² and Margaret Hallock, Peter³ and Eliza Hallock, Peter⁴ and Mary Hallock, Major Peter⁵ and Joanna (Mapes) Hallock.

Peter¹ Hallock, founder of the family in America, was, according to Griffin's Journal, the original purchaser of Oyster Ponds, now Orient, L. I.* He married a widow Howell before coming to America. His homestead at Acquebogue, near Mattituck, is, or was recently, still in the possession of his descendants.†

Frederick^o Hallock, b. in 1760, at the old homestead, d. at Quogue, 22 June, 1853.

* The Southold Town Records give Richard Brown as the first recorded owner at Orient.

Tombstones to Frederick and Hannah Hallock, and to nearly all their foregoing descendants, are to be found at Quogue to-day.

For additional details consult mss. at the N. Y. Genealogical Society. In this connection it may be noted that both the late Genl. Henry Wager Hallock, and the poet Fitz Greene Hallock, traced their ancestry to Peter¹ Hallock, of Southold.

HENRY ROWLEY AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

BY HOMER W. BRAINARD, HARTFORD, CONN.

This paper was begun in connection with my work upon the families of Edward and Captain Matthew Fuller. The numerous alliances of the Fullers and Rowleys rendered this necessary in the early generations. The paper was not intended to include the generations now living, and makes no claim to completeness, even in the first five generations. I have not always been able to state reasons fully, but the original records have been used. In the few cases where conjecture has been employed, the doubt is indicated by "probably," or by (?).

All the persons named in the article are descendants of Cap-Matthew Fuller, soldier and surgeon, successor of Captain Miles Standish, and Surgeon-General of the Plymouth forces. The descendants of Samuel Rowley (9) certainly, and probably those of John (10), Jonathan (12), Simeon (35), and Issachar (36), by the marriage of these four Rowleys to descendants of Edward Fuller and Richard Warren, of the Mayflower, are of the Pilgrim descent as well.

1. HENRY' ROWLEY was an early planter at Plymouth, Mass., where he was taxed in 1632. It is possible that he was one of the company that came over from Leyden to Plymouth in 1630. It has also been conjectured that he came with Mr. Hatherly in 1632. I have found nothing by which either conjecture can be verified. It is probable that he was married when he came over, and that his three children were born before that time. It has been declared that his first wife was Sarah, daughter of William Palmer, Senior, of Duxbury. The latter came over in the Fortune in 1621, and his wife Frances came in the Anne in 1623. In his will, dated 1637, William Palmer names "Moyses Rowley (son of Henry)", whom I love," and provides for his bringing up, but does not state what relation Moses was to himself. Henry Rowley m. (2) Oct. 17, 1633, Anne, widow of Dea. Thomas Blossom, who embarked in the Speedwell at Leyden in 1620, but being obliged to return to Leyden, came over to Plymouth in 1629, where he d. previous to March 1632-3. Henry and Anne Rowley removed to Scituate in 1634, the year he was elected freeman. Both were members of Rev. John Lothrop's church on Jan. 8, 1634-5, and removed with him to Barnstable in 1638. He was a deputy from Barnstable to the General Court of Plymouth at least once.

Thomas and Peter Blossom came to Barnstable with their mother, Mrs. Rowley, and were probably members of the family of their father-in-law. In 1650 Henry Rowley removed, with his son-in-law, Peter Blossom, to West Barnstable, and later to Falmouth. Henry Rowley d. in 1673. Inventory of the estate of "henery Rowley of Saconessett," exhibited in Court, July, 1673, on oath of Moses Rowley. "Item: a debt of twenty-nine pounds due from Jonathan Hatch upon the repurchase of a parsell of land which the said Hatch sold to said Henery Rowley with that limitation provided." Plymouth Colony Records, Vol. iii, part 2, p. 93. Children:

- 2
 - i. Moses,² b. ———; m. Elizabeth Fuller.
 - ii. Joseph, b. ———; living at Barnstable, 1655; said to have gone to Barbadoes.
 - iii. Sarah, b. ———; m. April 11, 1646, Jonathan Hatch, of Barnstable and Falmouth, b. about 1626; d. Dec., 1710, aged about 84 years. He settled in Succnessett (Falmouth) in 1661, and his younger children were born there. Children: Mary, b. July 16, 1647; m. William Weeks, of Falmouth; his second wife, according to Otis, based upon the mention in Jonathan Hatch's will of his dau. Mary Weeks. William Weeks m. (1) March 16, 1669, O. S. Mercy Robinson, bap. July 4, 1647, dau. of Isaac and Margaret (Hanford) Robinson. It is thought that she d. early, and some at least of William Weeks' children were by second wife, but which ones is not certainly known; Thomas, b. Jan. 1, 1649; Jonathan, b. May 17, 1652;
